Welcome Message

Dear Colleagues,

I would like to invite you to participate in the 96th Congress of the European Orthodontic Society (EOS), which will take place from the 10th to the 14th June 2020 in Hamburg, Germany. It is a great honour and pleasure for me and our Organizing Committee to host this event in Germany for the 12th time, 13 years after it was last held in Berlin for the EOS 100th Anniversary Congress.

The scientific programme will have two main themes. The first will focus on the role of orthodontics and dentofacial orthopaedics in oral health, bringing into discussion the various treatment effects. Secondly experts in bone biology and orthodontics will give us an update on our second topic of interest titled “all about bone in orthodontics”. Time will also be devoted to the presentation of new scientific and clinical developments in a variety of other important topics in the free topics section. Excellent keynote speakers, who specialize in the congress topics, will critically analyse these subjects and this will be followed by short presentations of new research data.

In the era of globalized online information, our annual congress not only aims to provide new scientific information but also to bring together researchers and clinicians from all over the world and to establish long-lasting collaborations and friendships. The large number of participants that attend the EOS meetings every year is the best proof of this.

A special invitation is addressed to the future of our discipline, the orthodontic postgraduate students of European and other programmes, to submit and present their research and to make friendships for life in a relaxed and friendly atmosphere.

For many Hamburg is Germany's finest city – a cosmopolitan host open to change. This hospitality is expressed in many new hotels, futuristic architecture situated amongst famous historic locations. With the new Elbe Philharmonic Hall – “Elbphilharmonie” – directly by the water and close to the harbour Hamburg has a new spectacular landmark. The Hanseatic City of Hamburg is a centre for innovative industries and scientific excellence.

The congress facilities are centrally located and easy to reach. During our social programme, you will get to know this exciting city in all its aspects. We are very happy to host the EOS Congress.

Welcome to the 96th EOS Congress in Hamburg!

Bärbel Kahl-Nieke
